It just so happens that I might have seen Cath’rine walking along the shore, collecting sea glass as she does.

And it just so happens that there might have been a child I’ve never seen before, beside her. Yes there was. And it was certainly no there wasn’t.
But of course you would never imply such a thing.

It just so happens that I might a thought the child looked like her but it was dark, and who can say?

But of course, she's always lived her life her way.

And of course the whole thing now just seems like a blur.
ROGER: Hey there, you two! What’s the good news? You sure look like you’re having fun.

JEANINE: Nothing, Roger. Just a little girl talk.

SHIRA: Yes – a little girl talk indeed...

JEANINE: Shush!

OTHER PERSON: Are you talking about the little girl I saw with Catherine Lewis just now?

ROGER: What’s that? A little girl? Is it hers?

SHIRA: We never said that at all.

JEANINE: No, no, not at all.
Well, I've been watching, and I haven't seen the girl at all for at least a week.

It's been so long already.

I haven't either. (Not that I was watching.)

Me neither. Can't some-body just drop

Faster Still \( \text{\textcopyright} \ 132 \) 4. "Tip-tip-toein" The Glass Girl | Lancellle & Toft | 4 of 10
Well, we can't just keep wondering.

by her house and sneak a peek?

But how would we ever find out such a thing? Suppose I bake a key lime pie, and I don't have anyone to give it to, Suppose I take it to Cath'rine, and she forgets to invite me in, so I in-

Tip-tip-toein' The Glass Girl | Lancell & Toft | 6 of 10

Jeanine

vite my self in to show her what's polite, If I meet the girl, then I'd say hel-lo, just to do what's right. And of course, I'd have to ask her name if I were paying call, and I wouldn't imply anything.

Pno.

Jeanine

not a thing at all. Suppose you bake a key lime pie, and you don't have anyone to give it to, suppose

Shira

Suppose you bake a key lime pie, and you don't have anyone to give it to, suppose

T

Suppose you bake a key lime pie, and you don't have anyone to give it to, suppose

B

Suppose you bake a key lime pie, and you don't have anyone to give it to, suppose

Pno.

Jeanine pose you take it to Cath’reine, and she forgets to invite you in, so you invite yourself in to Shira pose you take it to Cath’reine, and she forgets to invite you in, so you invite yourself in to T pose you take it to Cath’reine, and she forgets to invite you in, so you invite yourself in to B pose you take it to Cath’reine, and she forgets to invite you in, so you invite yourself in to Pno.

Jeanine show her what’s polite, If you meet the girl, then you’d say hello, just to do what’s right. And of Shira show her what’s polite, If you meet the girl, then you’d say hello, just to do what’s right. And of T show her what’s polite, If you meet the girl, then you’d say hello, just to do what’s right. And of B show her what’s polite, If you meet the girl, then you’d say hello, just to do what’s right. And of Pno.
course, you'd have to ask her name if you were pay-ing call, and you would'n't im-ply a-ny-thing, not a thing at all. Sup-pose you bake a key lime pie, and you don't have a-ny-one to give it to, Sup-

not a thing at all. Sup-pose you bake a key lime pie, and you don't have a-ny-one to give it to, Sup-

not a thing at all. Sup-pose you bake a key lime pie, and you don't have a-ny-one to give it to, Sup-

not a thing at all. Sup-pose you bake a key lime pie, and you don't have a-ny-one to give it to, Sup-
Jeanine:
show her what's polite, If you meet the girl, then you'd say hel-lo, just to do what's right. And of

Shira: show her what's polite, If you meet the girl, then you'd say hel-lo, just to do what's right. And of

T: show her what's polite, If you meet the girl, then you'd say hel-lo, just to do what's right. And of

B: show her what's polite, If you meet the girl, then you'd say hel-lo, just to do what's right. And of

Pno.:
JEANINE: Well then, looks like I've got some baking to do.