If you're lost in where to start, well that's the hardest part of art, and it's confusing. So trust your heart and take a breath, and take a brush and dip it in and make a line.
Make it big or make it small, make it any-thing at all, just make it something that you know.
That only you can know. And your picture starts to grow. And let the colors bleed together, the pink and green and yellow red and teal.

Cause when the colors bleed together you make something of your own, you make something new that only you can feel.

And now it's If e-'vry draw-ing was the same, well then draw-ing would be lame and real-ly bo-ring.
But every second you decide what you show and what you hide and what you are.

And if you think this is a square, well I don't care, cause it's a squirrel! I say no, but you say yes. So it's a squir rely squar-ey mess.

Or it's a ny bo dy's guess, cause all the co-lors bleed to-ge-ther. The pur-ple beige ma-gen ta grey and_
And when the colors bleed together you create the things you see, and what you see is what you know, and that's what's true.
