“In My Own Time” from Gravity: A New(tonian) Musical
Music by Joel Chapman and Matt Herrero
Lyrics by Weston Gaylord and Matt Herrero

ISAAC:
I thought there was beauty in numbers.
I thought every lock had a key.
Whenever I couldn’t find answers.
I figured the problem was me.
But I’ve never believed so deeply
In something I don’t understand.
The truth is,
The beauty and numbers collide
When I’m holding your hand.
Why can’t I come with you?
Why can’t you stay?
We’d be together in my time or yours either way.
I’ll never see any reason to be
Anything other than madly in love with you.

SOPHIE:
Nothing has happened the way I expected.
Time hasn’t always been quite on my side.
I always thought that my heart was protected,
But somehow I’m here and I guess what I’m trying to say
Is that I, arguably, may
Be in some partial form of headlong and utter,
Total and blissful
Head-over-heels type of love with you.
And that makes this harder to say.
‘Cause I don’t understand the way
That loving you
Is hurting you
Is needing you
Is leaving you,
But Isaac, I’m leaving.
I need to go home.
And when I’m home,
We’ll have the same hopes,
The same fears,
And nothing between us
But hundreds and hundreds of years.

In my own time,
I need to be in my own time.
But I'm afraid I could never have stayed,
And you'll understand
In your own time.

SOPHIE AND ISAAC:
With the same love,
The same tears,
And nothing between us
But hundreds and hundreds of years!

SOPHIE:
In my own time,
I need to be in my own time.
But I'm afraid I could never have stayed,
And you'll understand
In your own time
In my own time,
I need to be in my own time.
But I'm afraid I could never have stayed,
And you'll understand
In your own time.

ISAAC:
The truth is,
The beauty and numbers collide
When I'm holding your hand.
I'll never see any reason to be
Anything other than
Madly in love with you.
The truth is,
The beauty and numbers collide
When I'm holding your hand.
I'll never see any reason to be
Anything other than
Madly in love with you.

SOPHIE:
And you'll understand...
