figured the problem was me. But I've never believed so deeply in something I don't understand. The truth is the beauty and numbers collide when I'm holding your hand. Why can't I come with you? Why can't you stay?
We'd be together in my time or yours either way I never see any reason to be anything other than madly in love with you

SOPHIE:

Nothing has happened the way I expected Time hasn't always been quite on my side I always thought that my heart was protected but somehow I'm here and I guess what I'm trying to say is that I arguably may be in some partial form oof head-long and utter total and blissful head over heels type of love with you And that makes this harder to say 'cause I don't understand the way that loving you is hurting you is needing you is leaving you But Isaac, I'm leaving I need to go home and when I'm home We'll have the same hopes the same fears and nothing between us but hundreds and hundreds of years

In my own time I need to be in my own time

But I'm afraid I could never have stayed and you'll understand... stand in your own time

With the same love the same tears and no-thing be-tween us but
