[Music notation follows the lyrics]

Ben:

A story begins with once upon a time and it's supposed to end with a happily ever after and not another like mine Then we grow up and we

Something Ever After

start to realize that life is not this fairy tale story it's hard and imperfect takes strength and takes courage and I let it all slip a way but now that I'm living on the other side Something Ever After

I see the world through a new set of eyes.

I am everything I couldn't be when I was alive.

And I am learning to survive.

And while this I wrote something ever after

I'll keep living something ever after if I could go back to that night would tell myself it'll all be all right I say I'd rewrite it if I could but really I don't know if I side but now that boy's living on the other side seeing the world through a whole new set of eyes yes this boy could see everything he could not see when he was alive and though the story he told might be over and done a no one has already begun and he will live.

just like in life death isn't always as expected I never thought that so many would be so effected but little by little smiles reappear.

placing months and months of tears and I can finally accept that I'm not here anymore. It's my time to soar and to stand tall as a voice for all saying no things as bad as it may seem in the moment and if you're feeling down or feeling broken just stay strong and know that you belong

Something Ever After
Here I am watching life from the other side.

seeing the world with a new set of eyes.

seeing everything I couldn't see when I was alive.

Something Ever After
and guess what it's all right and while my story might be over and done another one has just begun and I'll keep living I'll keep living Something Ever After
