Who Are You?

Music and Lyrics by: Jonah Sorscher

Who are you?
Where'd you come from?
And why'd you care to wander right into my life?
What's your name? You look like a Mal-colm.

Wait, that sounds so dumb. It's just you came and wrenched a heart.
Who Are You?

Knife into my knife.

Knife into my heart!

Where do I start?

Why am I on the ceiling?
Why are you so appealing?
And what is this feeling I'm feeling for you?
It's telling me that maybe we were meant to be like Twee-dle Dum and Twee-dle Dee, a
Who Are You?

middle-aged American and his TV, or his obesiety. The Princess and the Pea,

Who Are You?

the Old Man and the Sea!

Instead of he and she it's we.

If I try to say "hi", I most certainly will fail. Yes I know, "take it slow". Well I've already been down that trail before. And I don't want to any more.
So I guess I'll confess all the feelings deep inside, and if he possibly probably bly says "no" at least I'll know I've tried.

Not gonna run away and hide.
Cuz oh, I know when you are near my heart's in flight. Every day
I watch you so that I can get this right. But not in a stalker way I swear I don’t know your room number... well I might.
But that's just 'cuz your room is six doors to the right of mine!
My heart's a blaze, you're like a maze that I'll never quite figure out, won't know the route, but it's okay you'll hear me when I scream and shout: "Is this love? Is this love? Is this love?"

I don't know what to say. Never felt quite this way.
What once was black and white is gray.

And I hope you want it too. To want a you know who.

So who are you?
